Production Guild Awards 2026

Awards Programme

It is an honour to present the 2026 Production Guild UK Awards in association with Warner Bros. Studios Leavesden. Huge thanks to Emily Stillman and the team at WBSL for their continued support.

The Awards is about celebrating our members and recognising excellence in film and high-end television. We're proud to shine a spotlight on the people whose work often doesn't make the headlines but without whom nothing gets made.

It's been a demanding year for the industry, with continued pressure on budgets, timelines, and resources. This year's nominees are the individuals and teams who met that pressure with skill and resolve - who kept complex productions on track, delivered under tight schedules, and made the numbers work without ever compromising creative vision. To arrive at our nominees, every one of our Award categories was judged by peers who understand what it takes to make exceptional productions from the inside.

I want to give a huge thank you to our members, industry friends, partners, sponsors, the PG Board and team who make the Awards possible and deliver on the core mission of the Guild - to champion, professionalise and celebrate our industry.

Congratulations to all the nominees!

Kaye Elliott
CEO
Production Guild UK

Film & TV production takes a huge level of commitment, passion, skill and perseverance. Production Guild Membership represents those at the coal face of making exceptionally complex, challenging and creatively ambitious projects on the international stage. So it brings me real excitement to welcome everyone to the latest – rebranded and updated - Production Guild UK Awards.

I am proud to be a member of this industry. Whatever ways we believe the industry could be better, it remains an honour and a rich experience that we all share. These awards offer a hugely important opportunity to celebrate, together, the expertise and talent that goes into these roles and teams. As we celebrate these achievements, let us also focus on the camaraderie behind them. We must remain inspired to build healthy working environments that support one another, ensuring our success brings not only a livelihood, but a sustainable life.

To all nominees and winners, thank you for inspiring all of us. We can be proud to be in one community with you. Let's celebrate – and also commit to fostering a community we can all be proud of.

A Word from our Headline Sponsor

We are thrilled to support Production Guild UK and its annual Awards, recognising and celebrating the outstanding achievements of talented individuals across production, post-production and accounts.

The past few years have tested the resilience of our industry, but it is hugely encouraging to see the UK continuing to attract world-class filmmaking. The incredible talent and expertise represented within this community helps cement the UK's reputation as one of the leading destinations for production, and Warner Bros. Studios Leavesden is proud to play a part in supporting that continued success.

Congratulations to all of the nominees and winners. Your work is inspiring and we are pleased to celebrate your achievements alongside the wider Production Guild membership.

Anne Mensah
Vice President of Content
Netflix UK

Anne Mensah has spent more than two decades working on some of the brightest and best productions in television, building a career governed by one simple instinct: great stories can come from anywhere.

Anne's greatest contribution isn't measured in credits, it is measured in people: the careers she has backed, the producers she has trusted, the talent she has championed. She has used her platform to change the industry for everyone who comes next.

For her vision, her leadership, her extraordinary instinct for talent, and for the lasting impact she has made on the UK film and high-end television industry, we say thank you.
